A Brilliant Annual Charity Ball Last Evening.

THE McFALLS-DAVIS WEDDING

Mrs. Romero's Reception-How Fashionable People Enjoy Themselves-Ladies Who Will and Who Will Not Be at Home to Callers-Personal Notes of Interest.

The charity ball last night was all that its projectors hoped for-a brilliant occasion. As saying has no meaning in Washington. The appeal made for the Children's Hospital meets always with a ready response, but last night it did more than that. Most of those who bought tickets went to the ball and added by their presence to the social success of the evening. After 10 o'clock the hall was so thronged that all who would dance could not do so at the same time. The duennas making an imposing cordon of the room shared their honors with the men and maidens between the dances and during some of them.

The ball room was elaborately decorated.

St. n.w. (93-114) 1330-3t 1320-3t 1320-3t 1420-3t nations, the balcony was resplendent with streamers and had as a central ornament the flag of the Secretary of the Navy. The stage, furnished with divans and chairs, had a drapery of flags and another of garlands of smilax, in which twinkled red, white and blue lights. All the labor to make this pretty display was one of pure charity.

During the evening the dancers sat there and completed the harmony of the pretty picture The Marine Band, stationed in the gallery, played as the opening march a new composi-tion by Signor Fanciulli entitled "The Chil-dren." Among other numbers on the program For best bargains in vacant and improved property in all parts of the city call on of twenty dances were a schottische, "Amanda and "Tenderloin," a waltz, also composed by Licut. wanted to be. Of course there were many absolute strangers to the hostess and to everybody else, but all received the same kindly welcome and carried away with them the brightest memories of a call within the hospitable surroundings of of a call within the hospitable surrounding. No-the capital home of our sister republic. No-body seemed missing but Minister Romero body seemed missing but Minister Romero on Friday, as stated. They have canceled all engagements for the week and Mrs. Hale will himself, and in the many kind inquiries for his health there were as many more wishes that he would soon return to the legation. Mrs. Romero wore a becoming toilet of dark garnet faille with embossed velvet. Her efforts to make married ladiess remained usually in the drawing room, and the others were the ministering spirits of the dining room and ball room, where something not to be forgotten. Assisting Mrs something not to be forgotten. Assisting Mrs. Romero were Mrs. Call, wife of Senator Call; Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Pope, Mrs. Ffoulke, Mrs. Pugh, Mrs. Sutherland, Mrs. Foote, Mrs. Yrigoven, Mrs. Bloomer, Mrs. Jules Guthridge, Mrs. Ross Thompson, Miss Voorhees, Miss Aline Wilcox, Miss Chandler, Miss Reed, the Misses Reynolds, the Misses Hutchinson, Miss Kathe-Reynolds, the Misses Hutchinson, Miss Katherine Riggs, Miss Sutherland, Miss Worthington, Miss Soule. The only opposition to the bill thus far has proceeded from a few citizens of Georgetown who feared a possible interference with com-merce in the river. Mr. Anderson felt sure that the War Department will protect the in-terests of navigation of the river. He considered the proposition of the company a remark-ably liberal one—to build an iron bridge and give a double carriageway and footway across it free to the public. It is a broad-gauge pro-ject, with the ultimate object of establishing rapid transit to Mt. Vernon.

Capt. Reed, vice president of the road and president of the Alexandria board of trade, adressed the committee. His company is a live, solvent, active company, now operating one of the best electric railroads in this or any other country. The company has introduced a novel feature—the running of express trains—never before attempted. The cars are coupled to-gether so that the electric current from the trolley is transmitted to every car.

The company proposes to leave to the dismittee the kind of motor to be used within the city limits.

Capt. Reed, who has had many years of experience as a vessel owner and operator on the Potomac river, asserted that the bridge would not interfere with navigation.

It is proposed to complete the bridge within five months. There is no objection to allowing other roads to cross the bridge, under equitable arrangements for compensation.

A full thirty days' leave of absence during the year was not given to all those entitled to it under said order. In many cases only fifteen days' leave of absence was given, and in other instances much less. "We are in hopes that Congress will give the United States court for the territory, over which Judge Shackelford presides, full jurisdiction over its territory, stripping the courts at Paris, Texas, and Fort Smith, Ark., of their concurrent jurisdiction. Litigants and witnesses are dragged off to these two places at an May 16 offices closed at 12 o'clock m. out of respect to the memory of Senator Barbour.

June 4 the employes in the auditor's office who could be assessed as the auditor's office who smith sometimes for weeks. could be spared were allowed to attend the funeral of a deceased clerk of that office. From June 18 to September 1 the offices were closed are in the ground, and could be remedied by giving our court sole jurisdiction. The court now does more business than any two other United States courts and there are 200 deputy state," said Assemblyman C. A. McCulloch of Calais, Maine, "when game, both large and small, was so plentiful as this winter. When it is considered how many thousands of deer, moose and caribou have been slaughtered in our pine forests year after year this statement seems far fetched. It is attributable mainly to the excellent game laws and their vigorous clusive. These remissions did not apply to the enforcement. The legislature of recent years has given special attention to the preservation of game, and the open season lasts only from October 1 to January I. There is now a proposition to extend it by including Septem are careless with their fires, the lumbermen ob-iect, as do most of the sportsmen. We do not ject, as do most of the sportsmen. We do not have many hunters from this vicinity, but from may be recommended in writing by the heads of offices and be approved by the Commissioners, and any absence in excess of the allowance, except for illness, must be without pay. In case of absence due to illness, pend a few weeks with us, and there are a great many sportsmen's clubs scattered over spend a few weeks with us, and there are a great many sportsmen's clubs scattered over the state. This winter no less than eight deer have been shot at different times within the limits of my city and within four miles from the post office. I know of a farmer who killed a deer at the close of the open season, the ani-mal having come up from the woods with the cattle night after night to the barn and was housed with them. Our game wardens participate in the heavy fines for unlawful killing, and from our experience this system is the only suc-cessful one to keep down poaching and to save

> "I am reminded of an incident," said Maj. Piper of the life-saving service, "coming under my observation that illustrated Mr. Blaine's generosity. About fifteen years ago he resided at 15th and I streets northwest. When the streets were muddy a little darkey would sweep the crossing. One day I asked him how much he would make in a day. He replied that it de-pended entirely upon whether Mr. Blaine came his way or not. 'He alers puts his hand in his pocket,' the little fellow said, 'an' whatever comes out goes to me. Sometimes it a half-dollar piece.' The little codger also said that Mr. Corcoran never failed to remunerate him, and that as soon as these two gentlemen had > ability of the average man to detect spurious bills," said a treasury official to THE STAR representative, "what security is there when the treasurer of the United States is himself deceived and accepts bad money? Yet this fredeceived and accepts bad money? Yet this frequently happens, and only this month no less than three bills were received by the treasurer and their spuriousness discovered in the redemption department. Two were $2 bills, and it would appear that these bills are the most expertly counterfeited. They were detected by one of the ladies employed in the redemption department, and she is probably the most expert handler of money in the world. One bill was proved spurious by the fact that the initial "T" of the name "T. E. Spinner was the sixteenth of an inch to the right from being directly under the "D" of the letters "D. C." Well, when counterfeiting has arrived at such a stage of expertness it becomes almost a matter of hazard to accept any bills."
